

Advanced Healthcare Provider (post-transplant)

Boston, MA

Tufts Medical Center Transplant program is a growing program in search of a NP or PA to join our post-transplant team. The post-transplant Advanced Healthcare Provider (AHP) is either a nurse practitioner or a physician assistant, and is responsible for the care of the post-kidney transplant patient population.

Patient care responsibilities include evaluation and management of patients who have received a kidney transplant, follow-up of post-transplant clinical testing and immunosuppressive management and ongoing discharge teaching and clinical assessment of this population.

The AHP will provide advance practice care under the direction of the transplant faculty.

Close collaboration with the medical staff (including referring physicians) and in-patient clinical coordinators is essential to ensure appropriate follow-up care and transition of the care within the clinic.

When not in clinic, the AHP will be responsible for managing patients' immunosuppression via lab review and patient discussions.

The AHP will be the key point person for patient and may refer the patient to social work or for insurance counseling as necessary.
